De sacris Christianorum synaxibus, I, 948. Christiani juxta Cæcilium in Octav. dum mori post mortem timent, interim mori non timent, III, 256. Primum statuit Octavius nemini ægre ferendum quod Christiani quantumvis indocti, de cœlestibus rebus disputent, non enim disputantis auctoritas, sed disputationis ipsius veritas est spectanda, 279, 409. Luculenter demonstratur multo sanctiores esse Christianorum mores quam ethnicorum, 348, 414 et seqq. Spectaculis pompisque Christianos non interesse declaratur, quia ea non minus impia quam crudelia esse certo certius noverant, 352, 536, 540. Ab idolothytis Christiani abstinent, ne quis eos existimet aut cedere demoniis, aut suæ religionis pudere. Non omnem vero florum colorem et odorem aspernantur; sparsis enim, solutis ac mollibus uti solent, ac sertis colla complecti, sed mortui caput coronare, superfluum et inutile censent. Eadem etiam tranquillitate qua vivunt, sepeliunt mortuos, coronam æternæ felicitatis certissima spe exspectantes, 535, 542. — Christianos ut varias sanctæ religionis colant virtutes a Deo in sacris Scripturis commendatas S. Cyprianus hortatur. S. De hujus libri ætate, stylo, titulo, argumento, divisionibus, manuscriptis codicibus et editionibus, de variorum in eum observationibus; de corruptis locis; et quid Minucius ex aliis et alii ex ipso delibaverint, 386. Novæ in Minucii Felicis librum annotationes: ac primo expenduntur argumenta quibus Deum exsistere Cæcilius negat et probat Octavius, 409. De tribus exsecrandis criminibus, infanticidio, comesis humanis carnibus et incestu, quorum Christiani a Cæcilio et aliis ethnicis accusabantur, III, 478, 484, 499. Aliæ Cæcilii criminationes, et ad eas Octavii responsa examinantur, 517. Alia iniquissimarum Cæcilii accusationum capita expenduntur, 536. Excutiuntur Cæcilii argumenta, quibus probare conatur deos suos revera exsistere, ac proinde veram esse gentilium religionem, 530. Expenduntur argumenta quibus ostendit Octavius falsos esse gentilium deos, 535. Quam valida sint alia argumenta quibus Octavius contra Cæcilium probat falsos nullosque esse gentilium deos, 536. Quanti ponderis sit aliud Minucii adversus gentilium deos argumentum petitum ex ridiculis eorum formis et figuris, atque indignis turpibusque illorum factis et flagitiis, 573. Examinatur Cæcilii argumentum quo gentilium deos exsistere eo probatur quia Romani eorum cultu imperium totius mundi meruerint, 589. Expenduntur argumenta quibus Cæcilius ex miraculis, oraculis, auspiciis, auguriis, somniis, atque aliis prædictionibus deos exsistere probari posse arbitratus est, 604. Expenditur generalis Minucii responsio, qua miracula, oracula, auspicia, auguria, somnia, et alia extraordinaria apud ethnicos facta non ex deorum suorum potestate, sed dæmonum fraudibus ac præstigiis profecta esse demonstrat, 613. De deorum imaginibus et simulacris sub quibus delitescentes dæmones credebantur mira quædam operari ac quæ ab ethnicis impie colebantur, 625. De quodam libro, quem Minucius se scripturum promisisse videtur, ac de quibusdam locis obscuris, nonnullisque scriptoribus et atheis ab illo memoratis, 645. Obscura quædam Octavii loca explicantur, III, 648. De citatis a Minucio in Oct. quibusdam scriptoribus, 649.

RELIGIO. — Religio in genere. Cæcilius omnia in rebus humanis dubia et incerta esse asseverat, III, 242. Juxta eumdem dolendum quod Christiani, rudes plerumque ac illitterati, de summa rerum ac divina majestate aliquid certi decernere audeant, 242. Hinc nulla Providentia mundum regi idem arguit, concluditque satius esse antiquis religionibus adhærere, 242. Concludit Cæcilius in Octavio non de rebus dubiis temere pronuntiandum, 273. Non disputantis auctoritas, sed disputationis ipsius veritas est spectanda, 279. — De religione generatim spectata, VI, 366, et VII, 1011.

Religio Christiana. — Ostenditur Christianam religionem fultam esse sacris Veteris Testamenti scriptis, I, 781. — Ab ipso Christo apostolos, ab apostolis Ecclesias sanam disciplinam posteris transferendam accepisse, nec aliunde ullam esse accipiendam, II, 51. Veram Ecclesiæ doctrinam quia sanam, 40. Illud verum et divinum quod prius traditum, 41. Firmum esse veræ Ecclesiæ testimonium continuam ab apostolis episcoporum successionem, 44. Veram esse disciplinam nostram quæ ab apostolis utique non damnatur, imo defenditur, 45. Ad invenienda veritatem consulendas esse Ecclesias apostolicas, ac præ omnibus felicem illam Ecclesiam, cui totam doctrinam apostoli cum sanguine profuderunt, 48. Veræ doctrinæ indicia, 55. Argumentum libri ad senatorem, ex Christiana religione ad idolorum servitutem conversum per Jacobum Pamelium, 1105. Juxta Cæcilium in Oct. Christianorum religio stulta : hominem siquidem crucifixum, ipsumque hujus supplicii instrumentum venerantur. Asini caput colere, ipsamque parentis sui naturam adorare dicuntur. De cæde infantis et sanguine initiantur, ac per impudentes tenebras, incerta sorte omnes permiscentur, 260. Quidquid colunt, magnopere occultare nituntur : nullas aras habent, templa nulla, nulla nota simulacra. Deus illorum, sicuti et Judæorum, unicus esse fertur : quem cum nec videre nec ostendere queant, illum nihilominus molestum, inquietum et præpostere curiosum arbitrantur, 263. Futurum quoque asserunt totius mundi incendium; ac post corporum nostrorum resurrectionem, justis beatissimæ vitæ, injustis maximarum pœnarum æternitatem repromittunt, 266. Concludit tandem Cæcilius repudiandam religionem novam, 275. — Ethnicorum adversus Christianam religionis veritatem argumenta examinantur, V, 420. — De institutione Christianæ religionis, VI, 750 et seqq. — Expenduntur argumenta quibus Lactantius solam religionem Christianam veram esse demonstrat, VII, 1022, 1033. Quomodo Lactantius veritatem Christianæ religionis asserat et confirmet ex veris Christi miraculis, quæ a sacris nostris aliisque vatibus prædicta fuerant, 1044. — Selecta Theodosii de religione decreta, XIII, 521. — De fide Christianorum quinque libros scripsit S. Ambrosius, XVI, 523. — De doctrina Christiana S. Augustini libri IV, XXIV, 15. — De vera religione S. Augustini liber unus, XXXIV, 121. — De quibusdam religionis Christianæ dogmatibus in S. Augustini opere cui titulus : De diversis quæstionibus LXXXIII liber unus, XL, 11, De octo Dulcitii quæstionibus liber unus, 148. De diversis quæstionibus ad Simplicianum libri duo, 101. S. Augustini liber sententiarum XXI, 725. Dialogus quæstionum LXV, 733. Gennadii Massiliensis liber de ecclesiasticis dogmatibus, LVIII, 979. — Taionis sententiarum libri quinque, LXXX, 931-989. — S. Isidori Hispalensis sententiarum libri tres, LXXXIII, 537-736. — Sancti doctoris testimonia divinæ Scripturæ et Patrum, LXXXIII, 1203-1217. S. Isidori de ecclesiasticis dogmatibus, 1227. — Reginonis Prumiensis de ecclesiasticis disciplinis et religione Christiana, CXXXII, 175. — Petri Alphonsi dialogi, CLVII, 531. — Disputatio Judæi cum Christiano auctore Gisleberto abbate Westmonasteriensi, CLIX, 543.—Roberti Pulli sententiarum libri octo, CLXXVI, 659. — Petri Pictaviensis sententiarum libri quinque, CCXI, 783-1276.

Religio pagana. — Quibus argumentis Tertullianus demonstret falsam esse gentilium religionem ac falsos omnes illorum deos, I, 1091, 1102, 1113. De gentilium templis et sacrificiis, 1158. — Quælibet natio, ac Romani postmodum numina sua ita coluere, ut eorum cultu supremum totius orbis terræ imperium fuerint assecuti, III, 250. Auspicia et auguria Romana pœnitenter omissa, observata feliciter, 253. Minime ferenda Theodori, Diagoræ, ac Protagoræ impia temeritas, qui deorum religionem vel penitus tollere vel saltem infirmare voluere. At multo minus, juxta deorum defensorem, ferri debet latebrosa et lucifugax Christianorum natio qui deos despiciunt, 256. Evidenter ostenditur insulsum impiumque semper fuisse cultum deorum; dum mortalium antiquissimi suos reges, duces inclytos, artiumque inventores, ob præclara illorum facinora non secus ac deos venerati sunt, 297, 331, 530, 535, 566. Idque confirmat Octavius Euhemeri, Prolici, Persei et Alexandri Magni a quibus deorum patria, dies natales, sepulcra recensentur. Exponit præterea deorum tristes exitus, fata et funera. Ad hæc ineptias putidasque nugas ridet, quas de suorum deorum forma, figura et factis ethnici venditant, 299, 558, 562, 566, 573, 577, 582, 585. Brevi inductione demonstrat Octavius quantam in celebrandis quorumdam deorum mysteriis ridiculi, obsceni crudelesque ritus observarentur, 512, 508, 511, 631, 635, 638, 642. Ostendit Octavius a Cæcilio perperam jactitari Romanos, qui totius orbis imperio potiti fuerint, hujusmodi superstitionibus rite observatis, 513, 589, 592, 595, 600, 602. Religionis paganæ dæmones sunt auctores et actores, 615, 618, 622, 625.— Gentilium in Christianos odium excitant, III, 323. — S. Cypriani liber de idolorum vanitate, IV, 565, 1091. De Cypriani libro de idolorum vanitate, 1011, 1091. De origine idololatriæ, 1024; VI, 253 et seqq.—Quibus argumentis Arnobius religionem paganam falsam esse demonstrat, V, 499, 516, 524, 551, 564, 578, 590, 596. De templis gentilium, 609. De deorum simulacris et imaginibus, 616. De gentilium sacrificiis, 635, 631. — Religionem paganam falsam esse probatur ex origine, vita et factis deorum, VI, 156, 160, 165, 184, 186, 190, 192, 201, 209, 218, 230. — De errore eorum qui simulacra venerantur, VIII, 407. — De errore profanarum religionum tractatus S. Eusebii Vercellensis, capita XXX complectens, XII, 981. — Religionem paganam probat S. Augustinus, in Civitate Dei, homini multum nocere, XLI, 47, 111. — Prudentii carmen libri duo contra Symmachum, LX, 111, 117.
